AUDITOR'S REPORT.

Your Auditor has to report that he has examined the books, vouchers and statements of the disbursing officers of the Town, and their reports as herein presented appear to be correct.

Respectfully,

E. GRANT, Auditor.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

The Selectmen respectfully submit the following report. There have been no questions of importance to the Town during the past year that we have been called upon to take into consideration, outside of the usual routine of our duties. The Road Commissioners have had no freshets or other extraordinary occurrences to report to us, and we think the highways, with a few exceptions, are in a fair condition. The bridges and railings have been very extensively repaired the past year, and are now in good condition. The Town buildings, with the exception of Town House, are in fair repair. The Town House should be reshingled and painted, and put in good repair the present year. There are some guide-boards out of repair, and they should be looked after and generally repaired. This is an important item and one often overlooked.

We have given 191 orders on the Town Treasurer, amounting to $7460.56, and the itemized accounts that follow will show the manner in which this sum has been expended. We would reccommend the following estimates for the current year:—

REPORT OF OVERSEERS OF THE POOR.

The Overseers of the Poor respectfully present the following report of their doings for the past twelve months.

Early in the year the Overseers received a communication from the Commissioner of Public Records, inquiring if they kept records in accordance with the Public Statutes, and if so, what are they, and where kept? In reply we gave the necessary information, but could not say that the records were kept in fire-proof vaults.

The Public Statutes do not specify any form or system of keeping records. As a result there are nearly as many different methods as there are towns and cities in the Commonwealth.

The Massachusetts Association of Relief Officers, in which the chairman of the board holds membership, adopted a form of history blank. This form the Commissioner of Public Records has recommended to the towns to adopt. Your Overseers therefore in adopting this form have the double recommendation of the Relief Association where it originated, and the State Commissioner of Public Records.

As it would be very inconvenient for the Overseers to keep all the records in the Town safes, it becomes necessary to have duplicates, one for use, and one to be kept in the fire-proof safe. We have already commenced with the duplicate history blanks.

The repairs at the Town Farm during the year were as follows: The house has been shingled, the corn-crib enlarged and re-covered, and a new shed for the storage of wagons, with a room over it, has been built.

The farm crops were fairly good. The principal crop was corn, of which 500 bushels were raised. Not so much work has been done to reclaim the meadows as the Overseers would have liked, but at least the work has not gone backward.

There has been an increase of sickness in the almshouse. This was to be expected on account of the advanced age of most of the inmates, and it of course means increased cost. Two inmates have died; two new ones have been admitted, and one new one added to the Lunatic Hospital list.

We would recommend that the two chimneys in the main house be taken down and rebuilt, and enough more iron bedsteads purchased to completely furnish the house.

The Overseers are able to report once more that they have not granted any outside aid to persons having a settlement in town, except some medical aid to one person, who was soon after moved to the almshouse. We are more and more convinced that the granting of outside aid results in an increase of paupers. It is almost a public declaration that the Town is willing to provide the means for those people to live who are unwilling to assume the responsibility of providing for themselves.

The report of the Special Committee on Outdoor Alms of the Town of Hartford in 1891, probably the best report ever published, illustrates the great evils of this method of granting aid. The Overseers in 1885 decided not to grant outside aid except in extreme cases, and we are pleased to report that the position then taken has been continued, and is more firmly fixed than ever before. We believe that many persons have been prevented, without any great inconvenience, from allowing themselves to become paupers, by this action of your Overseers of the Poor.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS' REPORT.

We made general repairs on bridges and railings this year. For the last two years there has not been much done; this year the railings especially have been repaired, on account of which we have overrun the appropriation. One bridge at the south part of the town will need some repairing this year; the others will only need the common repairing of every year.

The highways are in good condition with a few exceptions. The Harvey Grant hill and what is called the Scott Hill road are in need of repairs. The Commissioners would be very willing to have the opinion of some one who knows, as to the method of putting them in good shape. We think it would be a good plan if people who find small holes in the roads which need only a few shovelfuls of dirt or a few stones to fix them, would, if they cannot do it themselves, take the trouble to inform the Commissioners of it. We also think about $300 above the usual appropriation to repair the roads, at the south end of the town especially, should be raised.

For the expenditure of money for highways and bridges, see the Selectmen's report.

Assessors of Bellingham.

Bellingham, Feb. 1, 1892.

CONSTABLES' REPORT.

During the past year we have attended to the duties falling to the lot of such office, and investigated all complaints made to us. One complaint of a liquor nuisance was investigated from which a search was made, a quantity of liquor found, and the owner brought into court and fined $100, which was paid.

The worst case of the year was the robbery of Elbridge Grant of North Bellingham on the night of September 4. We were all notified, and out most of the night, but did not find the parties. We got considerable evidence and submitted the same to the District Police, and they helped in other parts of the state. The Town offered a reward, and we are in hopes that they will have it to pay. The next morning after the burglary more excitement was caused in the same village by parties driving into the place and firing their pistol into the post-office building. They were immediately arrested and paid a fine of $50.

Officer Whitney, who has the care of the tramps, has put up 86, and has given them to eat about 1300 crackers. The number is less than for a few years past, owing probably to the meagre accommodations; they seem to be of a different class, seemingly quite independent, acting as if traveling was their trade; that the world owed them a living, and that the rest of the inhabitants were to wait on them. One, after surveying the accommodations, concluded he would go further.

As Truant Officers we have promptly investigated all complaints brought to our notice.

TOWN CLERK'S REPORT.

In presenting our report to the people of this Town, we shall endeavor to show the amount of work to be done in small towns. The duties increase from year to year, sometimes by acts of the Legislature, and sometimes by vote of the Town. All papers have to be copied into record books, and by the vote passed at the adjourned Town Meeting held March 21, the work is nearly doubled. We consider part of it very good, and others unnecessary.

THE VOTE.

At the adjourned annual meeting of the Town of Bellingham, held Saturday, March 21, 1891, it was voted that the next annual report be styled the One hundred and Seventy-third Annual Report of the Officers of the Town of Bellingham; that the Town Warrant be printed on slips and distributed among the voters one week before any Town Meeting, and that the Warrant for the annual meeting be printed in the Town Report, with the list of officers; that the officers in each department, elective and appointive, shall give in the annual report, not only the financial condition of the department, but also a statement of their official acts for the year, with the condition of the matter under their especial charge, adding such suggestions for the consideration of the town as to them shall seem proper under the circumstances.

Immediately after Town Meeting I caused the vote to be printed on slips, and distributd to all officers, both elective and appointed.

The Acts of the Legislature of 1891 also increase the work of the Registrars, by requiring them to go to different portions of the town, when the town contains several villages. Chapter 328 of the same year, "Uniform system of counting and canvassing votes," causes extra labor in preparing tally sheets, etc. According to said act, eleven officers are required for a Town Meeting in a voting precinct. By the Acts of 1888, it is required to insert in a book furnished by the insurance department, a record of all fires occurring in Town, and report to them on or before Jan. 15 of each year. This year there has been one perambulation of the Town lines, viz., between Medway and Bellingham.

The Assessors made their annual report of the militia, which contained the names of 196 persons, which was copied and sent to the Adjutant-General June 29.

There has been deposited in this office bonds to the amount of $1000 each by Constables Benjamin W. Woodbury, Delacy O. Evans, and Henry A. Whitney, for the purpose of doing civil business, and the Clerk of Courts at Dedham was immediately notified after each deposit.

State Commissioner of Public Records Swan made us a visit the past summer, and examined our record books. He said he should report some of our books needed copying, others rebound. He spoke highly of the preservation of our valuation books, of which we have nearly all from 1764 to the present date; also of our large and commodious safe.

The inquiry for the genealogy of families increases from year to year, and in order to facilitate the work of giving the information, I have copied all the marriages, births and deaths from 1720 to 1825, and find recorded 323 marriages, 1759 births, and 349 deaths.

I will call the attention of the Town to Article 13 in the Town Meeting Warrant of March, 1891, to wit: "To see if the Town will authorize and instruct the Selectmen to lay out a Town road, commencing at a point near the house of Charles Gould on Mendon street to some point on Depot street near the depot, or do anything relating thereto." It was voted to authorize the Selectmen to find the estimated cost of building said road, and report to the Town at the next meeting.

At the adjourned meeting held March 21 they made no written report, but submitted a plan that was surveyed by Willard Kent of Woonsocket, R. I., with explanation of the same by the Selectmen; and from that voted to refer the whole matter to the annual Town Meeting.

NOVEMBER TOWN MEETING.

Pursuant to the foregoing Warrant, the inhabitants of Bellingham qualified to vote met in Town Hall on November 3, 1891, and at 10 o'clock in the forenoon were called to order by Ruel F. Thayer, Chairman of the Selectmen. The Town Clerk then read the Warrant. The Town Clerk then delivered to the Selectmen one package of ballots, said to contain 250.

The Ballot Clerks, James O. Richardson and Daniel Sullivan, were sworn by the Clerk, and they assisted the Selectmen in posting the specimen ballots and cards of instruction in the voting booths and outside the guard rail. The ballots and a duplicate check list were given to the Ballot Clerks.

The ballot-box was then opened and inspected, and found to be empty; the register was set at 000, and balloting commenced at 10.15 o'clock, a. m. The ballot-box and check list were in charge of the Selectmen.

According to the Statutes of 1891, the Selectmen appointed as Tellers to help count the vote Seneca Burr and James O. Richardson, two Republicans; and as Supervisors, Daniel Sullivan and Warren E. Fairbanks, one Democrat and one Republican. William A. McKean and Orrin Chilson, two of the Selectmen, and both Democrats, acted as the other Tellers; Ruel F. Thayer, Chairman of the Selectmen, acted as Election Officer.

The polls closed at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon, when the ballot-box registered 137. It was opened, and ballots counted out 137. The check list was counted by the Clerk and found 137 names checked.

So much of Article 3 of the Amendment to the Constitution is amended by Article 32, which does not abolish the poll tax, but it does annul the provision requiring the payment of a state or county tax as a qualification to vote for Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Councilor, Secretary, Treasurer, Auditor, Attorney-General, Senators and Representatives.

Art. 33.—On a majority of members in the Legislature constituting a Quorum.

The above articles were approved and ratified November 3, 1891, and the Governor issued his proclamation November 25, when they became a part of the Constitution.

SCHOOL YEAR 1891-92.

ANNUAL REPORT.

One of the surest signs of the condition of education in any community is the estimation in which the profession of teaching is held. Where low views of education prevail, the teacher is valued at a low rate and her services poorly recompensed. On the other hand, where elevated and enlarged ideas of the nature and ends of wise education are entertained, the true dignity of the profession is appreciated, and the importance of securing to it the highest talent is practically acknowledged by providing the requisite means for the attainment of the object in view.

Measured by this standard, our progress is not what we wish it might be. Wages of eight or ten dollars per week may be a fair rate, but the continuance of it for only thirty-two weeks destroys its effect largely, and by such continuance drives away desired talent. Add to this the idea that all our schools will soon be controlled by normal graduates, and we say, where is our course tending? These facts demand the serious consideration of the friends of popular education. Without good teaching a school is but a name. But good teaching can be had only from men and women of high ability and ripe culture, and to suppose that such men and women can be attracted to the profession of teaching without adequate compensation is a fatal delusion.

Poor schools can be had cheap, but good schools will always be costly; and if the character of the schools of this town is to be elevated and improved; if they are to be kept up to the standard of excellence required by the advancing civilization, affording competent instruction to every child, it is absolutely essential that the compensation of teachers should be raised in proportion to the end which ought to be attained. Teachers will correspond in their character and qualifications to the demands of public sentiment as expressed in the salaries paid. Demand creates the supply. If there is a real demand for men and women, gifted, qualified by their intelligence and moral power to do the great work of education as patriotism and religion would wish it done, such men and women will not only be liberally paid, but they will be retained in their positions, and the great class of poor teachers will stay in those towns which delude themselves with making small appropriations and contenting themselves with thinking a school is well taught if only the one element of physical discipline is present.

While so many paths to promotion are open; while real talent is invited through so many broad avenues to emolument and distinction, it is unreasonable, it is preposterous to expect that superior persons—and only such can be good teachers—can, in sufficient numbers for the wants of this age, be won to the arduous and responsible office of teaching without stronger inducements than are now offered by towns like our own.

METHODS OF STUDY.

We would suggest that the methods employed by many teachers in smaller towns are not tending to any special development of interest in the branches taught, and consequently, there is no abiding benefit to the pupil. By way of illustration we may allude first to—

Geography.—From various reasons the subject has been made dry and uninteresting. It is studied for three or four years, and in less than ten is entirely forgotten. The principal reason of this is, it seems to us, that too much effort is given to the endeavor to make the child's mind a gazetteer of geographical statistics. If the teacher would teach geography instead of asking questions about it, the child would interest himself with profit.

Geography is too closely confined to the schoolroom. Ask a child to tell something about that great stream, the Mississippi river, and in all reasonable expectation he will point it out on the map as a black mark running across its face, with that as the limit of his knowledge. Crowd a lesson with facts about this river, and the recitation will pass from mere drudgery, and become a pleasant, intelligent exercise, the whole supplemented by a language lesson coming from original description.

Let the text book supply fact and the newspaper the illustration. The news from all over the world, the courses of railroads and water routes, the discoveries of explorers, and uses of great canals, etc., all tend to the desired end.

Grammar and Language.—Grammar should be studiously avoided in teaching young pupils, and ought to be taught in the last years of a Grammar school course. Language should be taught all the time. The teacher must be eternally vigilant to offset the bad language of the street and home. More is needed than to correct a mistake. The child must be made to feel it is wrong.

The use of language training cannot be overestimated, and the child ought to be, and can be, brought from saying "yes" and "no" to expressing himself intelligently and politely. This may be accomplished by a refusal of the teacher to take answers unless in the form of a statement. Reading a story with written or oral reproduction will accomplish the same end, and as the child passes along in his studies he will eventually come up to his real grammar work.

Spelling should be a constant exercise, not specially for spelling-school purposes, but to enable the child to write correctly. As very many persons use a vocabulary not larger than five hundred words, constant use of that number, properly selected, will give the power and ability to a person in the ordinary walks of life to write a letter conveying his ideas in correctly spelled words.

Reading is a subject, in the methods of teaching which the changes have been most radical. We doubt if a teacher can be found who teaches the A B C's, as was originally the only method of instruction. Teaching words followed the A B C method, and sentence reading has largely encroached upon the word method. All teachers of merit in this subject call constantly for new supplies in supplementary reading, such as Stories of Industry, Pratt's American History Stories, etc., which under the free text book law can readily be supplied. Without considering the use of phonics or, in fact, any other branch taught in our schools, we consider the topic of

SCHOOL SUPPLIES.

There is too small an amount of money appropriated for the teaching appliances needed in our schools. A set of maps, a new globe, charts, blocks, a thousand and one things are constantly needed that are valuable adjuncts to the good teacher, enabling her to do the best work with the pupil. And these ought to be supplied without stint, because in rural communities and factory villages the school life of a child ceases with the common ungraded school.

The average life of an American child is about three years in school, so as we value the future of the man and of the state, we must provide the child with a first quality teacher, comfortable surroundings, and modern educational appliances.

After these few suggestions given for the consideration of our citizens, we pass to the report of our

SCHOOLS IN DETAIL.

At the North schoolhouse the cupola has been supplied with a 149-lb. copper and tin bell made at Cincinnati. The expense of it was $50, but was met by entertainments during the year. At the Cary school a bell weighing 105 lbs., of the same metal, cast at Baltimore, has been placed in position. In addition to this a pole and 9x15 ft. flag have been put up, at a total expense of $60, all of which was liquidated by the proceeds of three entertainments.

Mary L. Linton, Geo. E. Aldrich, Catherine C. Cary, Lottie M. Colwell, and Winnie L. Cook have taught successfully during the entire year at their respective schools. Miss Mamie A. Billings taught one term at the City school, and then two terms at the Massey. Mabel A. Drake taught one term at Beaver Pond, and then left town to take a year at the Framingham Normal school. At the beginning of the fall term Clara L. Thayer came fresh from Normal work to take charge of the Beaver Pond school. At the Cary school Miss Anna L. Alger taught the spring term and Emily W. Chamberlin the fall and winter terms. Marion E. Howe began teaching the past term at the City school, aud is doing good work.

The work done during the year is fully as good as that of the year before. At several of the schools sickness and stormy weather have kept many of the pupils at home, not only depriving them of the school work, but keeping back in their studies those who were able to attend. The first class at the Cary school has been transferred to the Grammar school at North Bellingham, adding to the size and effectiveness of that school, and giving a better opportunity for good work at the Cary school.

Many of the school books have been in constant use for some years and are fast going to pieces. To replace these will require a larger appropriation this year than last year.

In text-books two changes have been made. Tarbell's Lessons in Language and Montgomery's United States History were adopted at the beginning of the fall term.

The increase in size of the City school will soon call for some change to be made in that building.
